DETAILED ACTION

Claim Interpretation

1. The broad language of "from about" when referring to the depth and height dimensions in claims 3-4, 11-12 and 16-17 are interpreted to include values near or approximating the ranges claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-20 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Campion et al. (US 5,346,468). Regarding claims 1 and 9 Campion et al. discloses an applicator comprising:

a tubular tampon holder/insertion member 12 adapted to house a tampon 13 and plunger 20;

said tampon holder/insertion member 12 having a fingergrip region disposed on the outer surface;

said fingergrip region comprising a slight depression/indentation region 21 having a depth dimension $X = (\text{radius curvature}) + \text{some unknown portion of } H$;

said indentation region 21 having rings/raised portions 18 having a height dimension H/Y ;

Art Unit: 3761

said height dimension H/Y is less than depth dimension X (figures 1, 5-6, col. 2, ll. 54-60 and 66-col. 3, line 5, col. 4, ll. 55-63).

The indentation region depth dimension X of claim 1 is interpreted to be the distance $(R + \text{unknown portion} * H)$ between the outer surfaces of ring/raised portion 18 on insertion member 12 to the lowest point of depression/indentation region 21 as denoted by figure 2. The raised portion Y dimension is the distance (H) between the base to highest point of depression/indentation region 21 as seen in figure 2.

Regarding claims 2, 5, 10 and 15 Campion et al. discloses a paper tampon holder 12 and in another embodiment a plastic plunger 20 (col. 3, ll. 10-15 and 26-30).

Regarding claims 3-4, 11-12 and 16-17 Campion et al. discloses an indentation depth dimension $X = R + (\text{some unknown portion}) * H$

$$= (1.27-1.52\text{mm}) + (\text{some unknown portion of } 0.25-0.38\text{mm})$$

$$= \text{from about } 1.27-1.9 \text{ mm}$$

Art Unit: 3761

Regarding claims 6-8, 13-14 and 18-20 Campion et al. discloses circular-shaped indentation region 21 and raised portions 18, wherein the raised portions are in a circular pattern (figure 5).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The Jackson reference, US patent no. 6,045,526, is cited for showing a plastic-coated resin paper tampon applicator with a finger grip region for improved insertion comprising a geometrically shaped indentation region having a depth dimension X of 0.05-0.12 mm and shaped raised portions in the indentation region with a height dimension Y greater than 0.23 mm. The Fox et al. reference, US patent no. 5,395,308, is cited for showing a thermoplastic applicator that holds an absorbent pledget with groove/indentation depth of 0.032-0.476 mm. The Rejai reference, US patent no. 5,389,067, is cited for showing a paper tampon applicator with a finger grip section at rear end of barrel on the exterior surface with a plurality of score lines to facilitate user grasping for insertion.
